1. Strategy Purpose

1.1 Introduction

The Mid North Region Recreation, Sport and Open Space Strategy was commissioned by the Office for Recreation and Sport (ORS), Planning SA and the five local government authorities that make up the region, ie, the District Council of Clare and Gilbert Valleys, the Regional Council of Goyder, the Northern Areas Council, the District Council of Peterborough and the District Council of Orroroo Carrieton.

The purpose of the strategy is to provide each of these major stakeholders and indeed all other organisations within the region that are involved with or have an impact on the development or operation of recreation, sport and open space, with a framework designed to guide future decision making surrounding the allocation and priority of available human, physical and financial resources.

It represents one of several such strategic decision making frameworks that have been developed for other regions of rural and metropolitan South Australia.

The consultant team undertook extensive consultation within the community to determine the issues and opportunities that face the region in relation to recreation, sport and open space. The outcome of this exercise which is described in more detail in the volume entitled Issues Paper, formed the basis for the development of a series of objectives and actions which are the main planks of the strategic plan.

Whilst the output of the exercise is essentially a regional strategy for the Mid North, an important driver has been the identification of issues and opportunities at the local level for each of the five respective Council areas. In this way the exercise has provided the opportunity to address needs from a local perspective yet also encourage an overall regional approach at both the State and local government level towards future recreation, sport and open space provision.

The Mid North is a large and diverse region in which each Council experiences unique demographic, sociological and geographical influences in relation to the provision of recreation, sport and open space opportunities. Nevertheless, a common theme is the need to encourage greater participation in physical activity and healthy lifestyles throughout the region.

1.2 Methodology

Figure 1 below illustrates the framework that has been used in developing the strategic plan for the Mid North Region.

The first step in the exercise was to determine the current situation across the region by addressing the question Where are we now?

The research and consultation process undertaken, enabled the consultant team to obtain an understanding of the major issues facing recreation, sport and open space at the regional level which in turn led to the formulation of a range of opportunities, being possible ways of addressing and ideally resolving the issues.

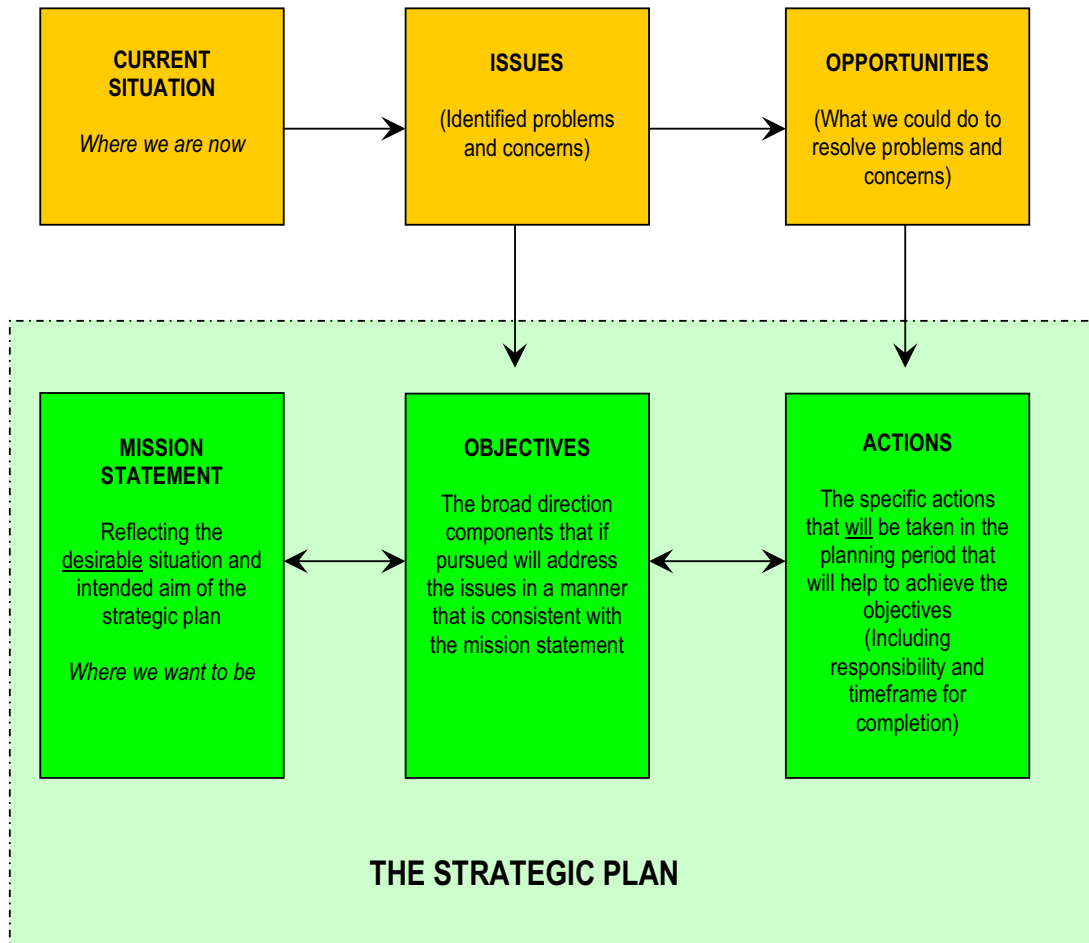

The output from the above exercise formed the basis for developing and providing input to the strategic plan which comprises:

- a mission statement reflecting the desirable situation and intended aim of the plan;
- a series of key objectives being the broad direction components that if pursued are designed to address the issues in a manner that is consistent with the mission statement; and

- specific actions to be undertaken throughout the course of the planning period that will help to achieve the objectives. These actions are allocated timeframes for completion and responsibilities for implementation and completion.

FRAMEWORK FOR THE MID NORTH REGIONAL RECREATION SPORT AND OPEN SPACE STRATEGY

1.3 Strategic Plan Development

The research and development process underpinning the formulation of the strategic plan has resulted in four key outputs from the study. These are:

1. An inventory of recreation, sport and open space facilities and trails distributed across the five local government areas which is contained in a separate volume. An audit was undertaken for each local government area which identified the facility, its features, the club or organisation using the facility and the hierarchy and ownership.
2. An issues paper, contained within another volume, which summarises the research findings of the study and the key issues confronting the region.
3. The strategic plan, represented in this volume which incorporates the mission statement, objectives and specific actions that need to be addressed; and
4. A key initiatives paper which essentially addresses two of the recommended actions in greater detail with the intention of giving them a 'kick start'.

The following mission statement has been suggested which is representative of the current objective of government to promote inclusion and healthier living through sport and recreational means.

“Encourage healthier lifestyles for all residents and visitors in the Mid North Region by promoting and improving the opportunity for participation in quality sport and recreation.”

2. Strategic Directions

The actions detailed in the tables in Section 3 are focussed on the delivery of the following core strategic directions for the region including:

- Increased opportunities for inclusion / participation
Encouraging greater participation by the community in recreation and sporting pursuits with a view to increasing levels of physical activity.

- Enhancement of facility provision, management and use
Devising ways of encouraging more efficient and better utilisation of facility infrastructure including how they are managed and maintained.

- Improved communication across sport and recreation networks
Establishing mechanisms and procedures that encourage better communication between facility and activity providers.

- Strategic planning for the management of sporting clubs and development of infrastructure
Encouraging planners and opportunity providers to take a more strategic approach towards the development of recreation, sport and open space.

- Enhancement of open space and trails
Improving ways in which open space and trails can be more effectively developed, managed and used by the community for physical activity while at the same time maintaining the sustainability of these assets.

- Responsiveness to demographic change
Encouraging planners and opportunity providers to take account of changing needs in the marketplace as the profile of the community changes over time..

3. Objectives and Actions

This section of the report outlines the key objectives and actions as they relate to the categories of sport, recreation, open space and general (ie those that have implications for the first three).

Whilst they reflect what needs to be done in a regional sense as agreed by the five local government areas, they should be considered in the context of the more specific and localised actions of the latter which are tabled in Section 3.8.

It should be acknowledged that while most of these localised projects do not necessarily address a regional issue, their collective impact can often result in the provision of benefits for the region as a whole. Furthermore their inclusion in the planning context encourages a greater sense of perceived ownership by the community.

3.1 Rationale for development of actions

In formulating the actions, the study team have been cognisant of the need to ensure that they

- address issues confronting the Mid North region as a whole;
- are practical and have the ability to be achieved, given the limited financial and human resources available; and
- are capable of being measured in terms of overall performance against the strategic plan.

3.2 Key Initiatives

During the course of the study, two actions from the strategic plan were identified as key initiatives for further examination and development by the study team. The initiatives selected were considered to have particular merit in addressing some of the more pressing regional issues. These were

1. The establishment of a Community Recreation and Sport Network for the Mid North Region (proposed name MIDNET) as a means of improving communication between the local government authorities, clubs, associations and other agencies involved with the provision of recreation, sport and open space services.
2. The preparation of a pilot be active communication strategy document that specifically targets the Mid North Region with a view to improving current levels of community physical activity.

Actions relating to these initiatives have been highlighted in bold italic text within the Draft Strategy. The Initiatives continue to be prepared and will form part of the final approved strategy.

3.8 Local Projects and Actions

Outlined below is a detailed list of projects and actions as identified by the 5 Councils in the region which represent significant importance in the next 1-5 years for their respective council areas. This local approach demonstrates the range of opportunities and needs required to enhance community opportunities associated with sport, recreation and open space in the region.

Although the strategy is aimed at ultimately achieving and developing a regional approach, the acknowledgement of these local projects is essential in forming the basis for developing and implementing these projects which will collectively deliver regional benefits. The identification of the local strategies in this document ensures there is local ownership in delivering the Strategy actions and this will be reinforced through the implementation of the MIDNET Community Sport and Recreation Group with the assistance of a Regional Field Officer should this latter position be achieved.

A summary of the highest priority local projects and actions across each of the Councils is shown below:

5. Implementation

The Mid North Region Recreation, Sport and Open Space Strategy, once adopted, will be used as a key reference document to assist in guiding the future opportunities for increased participation in sport and recreation and healthier living within the Mid North Region. It is intended that economic and social benefits of this strategy will assist many towns within the region with the potential for additional benefits to surrounding regions including Southern Flinders Region, and Barossa Valley. The Strategy will provide a key mechanism for the enhancement of sport and recreation facilities and open space within the region.

A fundamental element in the success of this Mid North Region Recreation, Sport and Open Space Strategy will be the extent to which it is adopted and implemented.

The regional actions identified in section 2, represent a wide variety of actions which need to be considered over the next 1-5 year period in order to achieve the broad objectives of the Strategy. Many of these actions will require specific attention by the relevant State and local agency with these actions being critical to ensure the Strategy has regional impetus and is put into place at the outset. However, there will be instances where these actions need to be considered in conjunction with the local strategies in Section 3 and the value of partnerships across State and Local agencies will be paramount to achieving successful implementation of these.

The coordination of the five councils in the region is an important factor to achieving a regional approach to successfully implementing the objectives and actions outlined under this strategy. A coordinated approach will provide greater clarity in terms of communication with other agencies, and the implementation of actions and strategies such as funding applications.

Finally, in implementing the Strategy it is critical that the Council and State Agencies maintain strong links with the community recognising their contributions and ensuring an understanding as to the outputs of the process. Effective, continual community consultation will provide an integral part in the successful implementation of the Strategy and the objectives and actions contained within.

The implementation of the various objectives and actions will be different amongst the five Councils. Therefore the application of this strategy is to be flexible to allow for a more localised or bottom up approach to achieving the regional objectives. It is designed to be used in conjunction with community and stakeholder involvement and consultation to achieve equitable and economic provision of enhancement of open space and facility upgrades and provision.

5.1 Monitoring

In order to gauge the effectiveness of the strategies and actions, it is important to maintain ongoing communication between stakeholders throughout the region. Should funding be made available for a Regional field officer, it is considered that this will be an important role in facilitating and coordinating communication between the various stakeholders. Creation of a Mid North Community Recreation and Sport Network (MIDNET) would also provide the field officer, the Office of Sport and Recreation and Planning SA the means within which to monitor, review on a quarterly basis and guide the implementation of the Strategy.
